

Bringing the Voice of Pride to Your Career Journey

Coordinator

Occupational Training in collaboration with UVA HR, Talent Planning.
Presented by Carolyn Cullen, Barbara Higgins, &
Anna Kelleher

Target Audience

Women in Facilities Management

Enroll Now

Email: Fm-Training@virginia.edu

Please include your name and computing ID

Overview

For women, self-promotion in professional communication may feel uncomfortable and inauthentic. Yet confidence is key for career success related to job searches, leadership communication, and career goals. The voice of pride can help women own their role in project success and team efforts. We will explore how to communicate pride in your role and accomplishments, explain how that voice of pride can convey your value, and discuss how it can help you tell your career story and create future opportunities.